Gallagher relocates Hong Kong office to bustling Mong Kok district

Leading manufacturer of security technology, Gallagher, has moved its Hong Kong office to Eaton Club, a modern co-working space that is situated in Langham Place shopping mall in Mong Kok, Kowloon.

With panoramic views of Victoria Harbor and the whole Kowloon Peninsula, the new Gallagher office is easily accessible from Mong Kok MTR Station.

“Mong Kok is one of the most bustling areas in Hong Kong and we’re excited to bring Team Gallagher to the epicentre of the country’s busiest commercial district,” says David Thean, General Manager for Asia at Gallagher. “Moving into the opulent Eaton Club has also provided the team with better facilities for meeting, training, and providing the superior service and hospitality we are renowned for.”

Gallagher’s new premises in Hong Kong will continue to support customers and partners in North Asia.

The Hong Kong office is at Suite 27 of Eaton Club, 48/F, Langham Place Office Tower, 8 Argyle Street, Mong Kok, Kowloon. Eaton Club Hong Kong is a subsidiary company under Great Eagle Holdings Limited.
